Southern Illinois University

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University was a place where dedicated teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, distinguished faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Science

Richard T. Arnold

Richard T. Arnold received his Bachelor of Education Degree from Southern Illinois University in 1934, and completed his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Illinois. He then joined the Chemistry Department at the University of Minnesota, where he was promoted to professor in 1946 and became department chairman in 1953.

Dr. Arnold came to prominence early in his career, receiving the prestigious American Chemical Society Award in Pure Chemistry in 1949 for his clarification of the stereochemistry and mechanism of an important class of organic rearrangements (the ene-reaction) and his imaginative development of this reaction in chemical synthesis. In 1948-49, Dr. Arnold served as a Guggenheim Fellow in Zurich, Switzerland, then returned to Europe where he served as the first Science Attache to the U.S. High Commissioner in Germany from 1952-53. Dr. Arnold's efforts and personal qualities were instrumental in helping to re-establish contacts between German and U.S. scientists following World War II and in helping promising younger scientists obtain travel grants to visit this country.

In 1955 Dr. Arnold left the University of Minnesota to become Program Administrator for the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, where he helped design the Sloan Fellowship program, providing support for young researchers with promise of excellence in the field of science. The accomplishments of Sloan Fellows through the years serves as a tribute to the designers of the program and to the first program administrator, Dr. Arnold.

In 1960 Dr. Arnold moved to one of the major pharmaceutical companies, Mead Johnson and Company, where he served as Director of Research, Vice President, Research and Development, and within a few months was appointed President of the Mead Johnson Research Center. He also later served as Vice President and Chairman of the Scientific Advisory Board for Mead Johnson.

In 1969 Dr. Arnold was persuaded, largely because of his strong affection and loyalty to Southern Illinois University, to return to this University as Chairman of the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry. He served in this role until 1976, contributing substantially during a critical period in the development of the Department. He later served as a visiting professor at Northwestern University and was awarded an honorary degree by that institution in 1979.

During his period of service at SIU, he served on a variety of University committees as well as on the Board of Directors of the SIU Foundation. Because of his keen interest in the professional growth of students, he helped form at SIU a chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, a chemistry honorary fraternity, and served as faculty adviser for several years. In recognition of his success in creating and sustaining a strong local chapter, and of the admiration and respect of student members, he received the fraternity's 1976 John R. Kuebler Award for outstanding service to the fraternity. In addition to the unselfish service that he has given to Southern Illinois University, his contributions as an inspirational teacher cannot be overlooked. In 1976-77 he was named the College of Science AMOCO Outstanding Teacher.

Dr. Arnold has made significant contributions to physical-organic chemistry throughout his career. In addition to his early work on the importance of intramolecular transition states in organic reactions, a concept that furthered the understanding of many reaction mechanisms, he was involved in his work at Southern Illinois University in demonstrating the importance of radical-anion intermediates in several types of organic reactions, and continued this work at Northwestern University. Dr. Arnold has also made outstanding contributions to his field through extensive publication in refereed national and international journals. He has been active in numerous professional associations and has served as consultant to numerous companies, including DuPont, General Motors, and General Mills.

In recognition of the outstanding contributions made throughout his career to his field of chemistry and to this University, this recommendation is presented for the award of the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, to Dr. Richard T. Arnold.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Science

William L. Fisher

A native of Marion, William L. Fisher received a Bachelor of Science degree in geology from Southern Illinois University in 1954 and was awarded Master's and Ph.D. degrees in geology from the University of Kansas.

Dr. Fisher has served since 1970 as State Geologist of Texas and Director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas at Austin, and has become widely recognized as one of the nation's leading authorities on energy and mineral resources. In addition to these positions, he has faculty and administrative responsibilities in the Department of Geological Sciences at the University of Texas at Austin, where he has held the rank of professor since 1964. He is currently Chairman of the Department of Geological Sciences and Morgan J. Davis Centennial Professor of Petroleum Geology.

In research focusing on the geology of energy and mineral resources, Dr. Fisher has been a leader in the application of his research to environmental problems. Under his leadership, the Texas Bureau of Economic Geology was the first state geological survey to initiate a significant research thrust directed toward the environmental problems associated with the development of energy resources.

Dr. Fisher has also been involved in the formulation and analysis of energy and minerals policy at the national level. In January, 1976, he was appointed by President Ford to serve as Assistant Secretary, Energy and Minerals, U.S. Department of the Interior, with responsibilities for the establishment and implementation of federal policy on energy and mineral resource development. He also served as Deputy Assistant Secretary, Energy, U.S. Department of the Interior, during 1975 and 1976.

Despite his numerous responsibilities, Dr. Fisher has found the time to serve on a variety of state and federal committees and advisory boards dealing with such matters as conservation, geological hazards, management of land and water resources, and protection of environmental quality. He served as chairman of the Texas Low Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority in 1982-1984, and currently serves as vice-chairman of that organization. He also served on numerous university committee and advisory groups; he has been a member of the Geology Advisory Group at Southern Illinois University since 1974.

Dr. Fisher has been a leader in the administration of numerous professional organizations in his field, and is currently serving as president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. He has received the Public Service Award from the American Institute of Professional Geologists (1985) and the Distinguished Service Award from the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (1982). He has authored or co-authored approximately 150 published books, reports, articles, and abstracts.

Maintaining throughout his career an active interest in Southern Illinois University, Dr. Fisher was a leader in a drive to add to a scholarship fund in the Geology Department a few years ago. He has also been a visiting professor at Southern Illinois University and has returned many times for special lectures and programs.

The letters received by the Honorary Degrees Committee in support of Dr. Fisher's nomination attest not only to his many accomplishments and to the reputation he has earned in his professional field, but also to his personal character and integrity. Dr. Walt W. Rostow, a noted economist and historian with a wide background in academia and the federal government, closed his letter by saying that he has in recent years had occasion to have personal contact with a great number of U.S. energy experts, and that "I have no doubt that Bill Fisher is the best among them, the man I would consult first and above all."

In recognition of the vast contributions which Dr. Fisher has made to his scientific field and of the distinction he has received in his research and public service activities throughout his career, this recommendation is presented for the award of an honorary degree, Doctor of Science, to Dr. William L. Fisher.

Hail Al - ma Ma - ter South - ern to thee

The first line of the musical score is written in 4/4 time with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). It consists of a treble and bass staff. The lyrics are: "Hail Al - ma Ma - ter South - ern to thee". The melody is simple and hymn-like, with a final measure containing a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Strong thru the years you stand tri - um - phant - ly

The second line of the musical score continues the melody. The lyrics are: "Strong thru the years you stand tri - um - phant - ly". The notation includes a treble and bass staff with a key signature of two flats. The melody continues with a final measure containing a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Bea - con to guide us O - ver life's sea

The third line of the musical score continues the melody. The lyrics are: "Bea - con to guide us O - ver life's sea". The notation includes a treble and bass staff with a key signature of two flats. The melody continues with a final measure containing a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Light that can nev - er fail us Hail, hail to thee.

The fourth line of the musical score concludes the piece. The lyrics are: "Light that can nev - er fail us Hail, hail to thee." The notation includes a treble and bass staff with a key signature of two flats. The melody concludes with a final measure containing a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Southern Illinois University

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Commencement

May 15, 16, and 17, 1987

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 15, 16, and 17, 1987

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Humane Letters

Clifton R. Wharton

Clifton R. Wharton has made numerous significant contributions to the economic and cultural development of this country, working tirelessly in a variety of humanitarian efforts.

Born in Boston in 1926, Dr. Wharton attended Boston Latin School, America's first public school, and entered Harvard University at the age of 16. While an undergraduate student at Harvard, he was a founder and national secretary of the U.S. National Student Association. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Harvard in 1947 and a Master of Arts degree in international affairs from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies in 1948. The University of Chicago awarded him a Master of Arts degree in economics in 1956 and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1958.

Beginning in 1957, Dr. Wharton was active in the Agricultural Development Council, Inc., a private non-profit international organization headed by John D. Rockefeller III. He was the Council associate in Southeast Asia from 1958 to 1964, director of the Council's American Universities Research Program from 1964 to 1966, and Council vice-president from 1967 to 1969. Prior to his work in Asia, he specialized in the economic development of Latin America. From 1948 to 1953 he headed the Reports and Analysis Department of the American International Association for Economic and Social Development.

Dr. Wharton was Chancellor of the State University of New York System from 1978 to 1986, having previously served for eight years as president of Michigan State University. In addition to higher education administration, Dr. Wharton, an economist, has specialized in economic development and U.S. foreign policy. His professional experiences have been diverse, spanning the private and public sectors and including activities on the state, national, and international levels. He is currently chief executive officer of TIAA-CREF, one of the largest retirement/insurance and pension programs for educators in the United States.

Dr. Wharton has been chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation since June 30, 1982. He also serves as a director of several major corporations, including Ford Motor Company and Time, Inc., and is deputy chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. He is a trustee of the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies, the Council of Foreign Relations, Inc., the Foreign Policy Association, and the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc. During 1981 and 1982 he was chairman of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

In 1976, Dr. Wharton was appointed by President Ford to chair the Board for International Food and Agricultural Development of the U.S. Department of State Agency for International Development, a post he held until 1983. He had previously served as chairman of the Food Advisory Panel, Office of Technology Assessment, U.S. Congress (1974-1976) President Carter appointed Dr. Wharton to the Presidential Commission on World Hunger in 1978. In 1983 he was named co-chairman of the Commission on Security and Economic Assistance.

In 1977 he received the Joseph C. Wilson Award for achievement and promise in international affairs. The award recognized his service in Southeast Asia, where he brought economic analysis to bear on regional problems of development and trained many of the region's leading economists and agricultural economists. In 1983 he was chosen as one of the first recipients of the President's Award on World Hunger.

Dr. Wharton is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the National Academy of Education, the Business-Higher Education Forum, and numerous professional associations. He has been active in the field of U.S. foreign policy, serving on the Advisory Panel on East Asian and Pacific Affairs of the U.S. Department of State from 1966 until 1969, as a member of the President's Task Force on Agriculture in Vietnam and of a Presidential Mission to Latin America, and as a director of the Overseas Development Council.

He has written extensively on the problems of development. He is editor of the book Subsistence Agriculture and Economic Development (1969) and co-author with the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh and Dr. James Miller of Patterns for Lifelong Learning (1973), as well as a contributor to many professional journals.

In recognition of his invaluable contributions to international educational and economic development, and the relationship of his accomplishments to the mission of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, the University finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Dr. Clifton R. Wharton the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Laws

John G. Gilbert

John G. Gilbert has devoted his distinguished career to the law, public service, and higher education. His ceaseless efforts on behalf of Southern Illinois University while a member of the Illinois Senate, and later as a member of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, helped shape the development of this institution.

Mr. Gilbert's association with Southern Illinois University began on February 4, 1912, the day of his birth. His father, John P. Gilbert, a member of the Southern Illinois Normal University class of '96, was head of the biology department at his alma mater, which was later to become Southern Illinois University. Mr. Gilbert's mother, Dora Gray, who also attended SINU, was an elementary school teacher. After John Gilbert's father died, in 1921, she resumed her teaching career.

Mr. Gilbert received a bachelor's degree in education in 1933 from Southern and a law degree from the University of Illinois in 1938. Upon his return to Carbondale, he established a law practice and served as master in chancery for the Jackson County circuit court. World War II intervened, and Mr. Gilbert answered his country's call, first as an agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and then as a legal officer with the United States Navy.

From 1948 to 1956, Mr. Gilbert served ably as state's attorney for Jackson County. In 1960 he was elected as a Senator to the Illinois General Assembly, replacing another strong SIU supporter, Senator R. G. Crisenberry. For the next twelve years he served as Southern Illinois University's spokesman in Springfield, helping President Delyte Morris to implement the changes needed for the conversion of this institution from a small teacher's college into the large comprehensive university it is today. Through his efforts, SIU was finally able to add professional schools—engineering, law, medicine, and dentistry—to its already impressive offerings.

Senator Gilbert's major legislative achievements were in the fields of education (he served for years as chairman of the Senate's Education Committee), economic development, and conservation. He often called on his many friends throughout the state to assist in passing a piece of legislation vital to this region. His successes are apparent in the broad and beautiful campus of Southern Illinois University, the excellent parks and recreational programs found in this region, and the increased awareness on the part of state and federal agencies of the needs of Southern Illinois.

Mr. Gilbert left the legislature in 1973 to devote more time to his family and his law practice, but in 1977 he reentered public service, accepting an appointment by the governor to the Illinois Board of Higher Education. He continues to serve with distinction on the IBHE. As a practicing attorney, he was very active in professional organizations. He served as president of the Jackson County and First District Bar Associations and was a member of the Legislation Committee of the Illinois Bar Association.

Mr. Gilbert has continued to maintain strong ties with Southern Illinois University. He has served the Alumni Association both as president and as a member of the Board of Directors, and received the Alumni Achievement Award in 1965. He also serves on the Board of the Southern Illinois University Foundation.

Over the last forty-nine years, John G. Gilbert has won our respect as a lawyer, as a state senator, as a public servant, and as an outspoken supporter of public higher education. He has a unique understanding of the personalities and needs of the leaders of the University and the region. Through his informal contacts, he has provided special insight into many of the problems faced by the University and community representatives.

In recognition of his numerous and significant contributions toward the growth and development of Southern Illinois University and the surrounding region, the University finds it fitting and proper to bestow on John G. Gilbert the honorary degree Doctor of Laws.

Commencement

August 8, 1987

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 8, 1987

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Humane Letters

Richard C. (Dick) Gregory

Dick Gregory is a brilliant comedian, a leading civil and human rights activist, a well-received author, a recording artist, a film and television personality, and a man totally committed to nonviolent social change. He has maintained a steadfast and principled dedication to work toward a more just and humane society, and has courageously taken those actions—throughout his life—which he felt were necessary to achieve progress toward this goal.

Dick Gregory was born in St. Louis, Missouri, and attended Sumner Public High School, where he was president of his graduating class. He was also a track star and the best distance miler in the state of Missouri. From over a hundred scholarships offered to him, he chose to accept an athletic scholarship from Southern Illinois University. In 1953, he was captain of the Saluki cross country team and the Saluki track team. In 1953 this talented sprinter became the fastest half-miler in SIU's history—a record that stood for eight years. He received Southern's Outstanding Athlete Award that year, the first Black student ever to be given that recognition.

While at Southern, Gregory's leadership abilities began to surface, as he took actions to effect changes in social conditions in Carbondale. He was involved in events which led to changing the policy of segregated seating at Carbondale's only movie theater. He also worked in the successful campaign for a new student center for the campus—a project which necessitated students' agreeing to a substantial fee increase.

In 1961, he became the first Black comedian to work in first-line night clubs and on national television. This fame brought him telephone calls from Medgar Evers and Martin Luther King, Jr., asking for his assistance in the growing Civil Rights movement. As a result, he sacrificed his career and was willing to risk his own life to help bring attention to societal injustices. He marched, demonstrated, and spoke out courageously at voter registration rallies and to the press. He performed at benefit shows for the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). In 1963 he collected and delivered 14,000 pounds of free food for the people in Leflore County, Mississippi.

At the urging of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Mr. Gregory became increasingly involved with Dr. King's efforts and the programs of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to bring freedom, justice, and equality to Black Americans. Mr. Gregory adopted King's philosophy of nonviolence, and during the 1960s was often jailed with King as they demonstrated for civil rights.

Using humor and satire to make his points, Mr. Gregory wrote on the plight of Black Americans and commented on the American political scene. His autobiography, Nigger, has sold over a million copies. He coauthored a book, with Mark Lane, entitled Code Name Zorro: The Murder of Martin Luther King, on the life and tragic death of his dear friend. One of his humorous recordings of commentaries on the American social scene sold over a million copies—the first time a “talk record” achieved that milestone. He was well known, he was recognized, and he made an impact.

By 1967 Mr. Gregory's involvement with social causes had expanded to include not only the Civil Rights movement but concern for the broader spectrum of human rights and the peace movement. Following the example of Gandhi, Mr. Gregory fasted for forty days to protest the killing in the Vietnam War. Since that first fast in 1967, he has fasted over a hundred times, often to call attention to important social problems such as fishing rights for Native Americans, de facto segregation in Chicago, drug addiction, and the escalating war in Vietnam. Currently, Mr. Gregory is heavily involved in researching nutritional solutions to world and domestic hunger, a project he began in 1974. Two years ago he donated 2600 pounds of his 4X formula, which requires no cooking or refrigeration, to the starving people of Ethiopia.

Like Gandhi and Dr. King, Mr. Gregory uses fasting, prayer, and other nonviolent means to stir peoples' consciences and move their hearts to recognize the dignity and divinity of every human being. His concern continues for the plight of the poor, the hungry, and those less fortunate. Mr. Gregory's life has been characterized by hard work, dedication, courage, and unselfish sacrifice. He has not forgotten the poverty in which he was raised, nor his many friends at this University. Last February he spoke on campus during Black History month, at the invitation of the SIUC Black Affairs Council. Throughout his life, his strength of purpose has not faltered.

Because of Dick Gregory's indomitable spirit, his leadership, and his significant contribution to efforts to bring freedom, peace, and equality to Black Americans and all oppressed people, this recommendation for an honorary degree is presented.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an intercollegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods: the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The ends of the sleeves are square, with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

May 13, 14 and 15, 1988

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 13, 14 and 15, 1988

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

The SIU Arena first opened its doors to host the Spring, 1964, Commencement ceremonies. Now, as we celebrate our twenty-fifth anniversary with you, we recall the more than 75,000 students who have received their degrees here and the 285,000 guests who have watched and cheered them.

The SIU Arena has also been host, over the past quarter century, to more than five million persons for sporting events, concerts, family entertainment, and academic functions.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Commercial Science

Ronald E. Hall

Ronald E. Hall, a native of Johnston City, Illinois, received a Bachelor of Science degree in education from Bradley University in 1953 and a Master of Science degree in business administration from Columbia University in 1971.

Today Mr. Hall is president and chief executive officer of Citgo Petroleum Corporation, a privately-held four-billion-dollar corporation engaged in refining, marketing, and transporting petroleum products. Mr. Hall's business stature and reputation as a person of superior integrity and wisdom have evolved over a span of thirty years. He began his business career in 1956 as a sales trainee with the Shell Oil Company. During twenty-six years with Shell, he held various sales and marketing positions throughout the United States and in London. In 1973 he was assigned to Shell's Houston headquarters, where he first served as manager for Real Estate and Market Development, than as general manager of the Oil Products Business Centers, and finally as vice president of the Base Chemicals Business Centers, Shell Chemical Company.

In 1982 Mr. Hall joined the Gulf Oil Corporation in Houston as senior vice president of Refined Products, a position he held until 1985. He joined Citgo Petroleum Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Southland Corporation, as president and chief executive officer in 1985, and the following year was elected senior vice president of Southland.

In the fall of 1986 Mr. Hall achieved a major international highlight in his career when he completed negotiations in which Southland sold fifty percent of its equity in Citgo Petroleum to Petroleos de Venezuela, S.A. (PDVSA), Venezuela's state-owned oil company. The action positioned Citgo as a private stand-alone company, and has been cited in numerous publications as an important prototype for the world oil market.

In addition to his stature as a key senior executive in a major industry, Mr. Hall's creativity, innovation, and business acumen have been nationally recognized. During his career Mr. Hall has produced a variety of technical reports and research studies. Although much of his scholarly productivity has been practitioner-oriented and company-specific, Mr. Hall was awarded the coveted Franz Edelman Award in 1986, by the Institute of Management Sciences, for his outstanding contribution to the practice of management science. This award, presented to Mr. Hall and Citgo, is based on the organizational impact of management science applications and was earned in competition with over one hundred United States business firms.

Mr. Hall is a regular contributor at conferences and professional meetings in the petroleum industry. He has frequently been called upon to testify before various United States Congressional committee hearings on the formulation of United States energy policy. Articles citing his accomplishments have appeared in magazines and newspapers ranging from the National Petroleum News to the Wall Street Journal.

As well as being a recognized industry leader, both in the United States and abroad, Mr. Hall has been actively involved with various civic and charitable organizations. He currently serves as a director of the Thomas Gilcrease Museum Association, a director of the Saint Francis Hospital of Tulsa, and advisory director of the Tulsa Ballet Theatre, and he formerly served as a director of the Metropolitan Tulsa Chamber of Commerce. He was vice chairman of the Oil Division for the Tulsa Area United Way in 1985 and 1986 and has long been an active member of the American Petroleum Institute. He was appointed in 1986 to the prestigious National Petroleum Council, where he currently serves as a member of the Committee on Petroleum Storage in Transportation.

Mr. Hall was responsible for Citgo's joining the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon as a national sponsor, the only oil company to do so. In the two years since he became vice president of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, his fundraising guidance has generated over $1.2 million for "Jerry's kids."

Mr. Hall has been a good friend to the College of Business and Administration and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He has served as both Executive of the Day and commencement speaker for the College, and has recently joined the College of Business and Administration Advisory Board.

Mr. Hall is not only an individual of considerable accomplishment and reputation in his professional field, but a person of high personal character who is sensitive to the needs of others. In recognition of the distinction he has achieved in his field and in the business world, and of his many public service contributions, the University finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Ronald E. Hall the honorary degree Doctor of Commercial Science.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Humane Letters

Mordecai Gorelik

Mordecai Gorelik is as well known to American universities and dramatic schools as he is to the American professional theater, in which he has worked for over forty years. While most of his career has been devoted to scene design, he has also written and directed plays, lectured, and taught in the United States and Europe. He is now an Emeritus Professor of the Department of Theater at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, where he spent the twelve years from 1960 to 1972. A premiere of his play Rainbow Terrace opened the theater of the new College of Communications Building in 1966. During his stay in Carbondale he directed the production of The Annotated Hamlet, a historic experiment in epic style that successfully merged the technique of drama with that of the lecture demonstration, creating a fresh approach to the staging of the classics in the university.

As a film production designer, he was responsible for the settings for RKO's None but the Lonely Heart and other domestic and foreign screen plays. At the age of twenty-six he designed his first Broadway show, Lawson's Processional, for the Theater Guild. Five years later he became the principal designer for the Group Theatre. A graduate of the Art School of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, he taught scene design and stage history at the Cornish School, the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, Pratt Institute, Bard College, New York University, and the University of Hawaii. He taught and directed at Brigham Young University and the University of Toledo, as well as at SIUC. Mr. Gorelik twice carried out research in stage production abroad on grants from the Guggenheim and Rockefeller Foundations.

His scholarly publications are widely acclaimed. New Theatres for Old, his best-known work, is a classic in its field. Its scholarly examination of new trends in twentieth-century theater aroused discussion throughout American professional and nonprofessional theaters, as well as in academic circles. Now in its sixth printing, it remains one of the most important sources for the study of the American theater. Mr. Gorelik has worked extensively with such theater notables as Bertold Brecht, Erwin Piscator, and Robert Edmund Jones. As a member and co-founder of the Group Theater, perhaps the most significant American theater organization yet assembled, he worked with Harold Clurman, Elia Kazan, Robert Lewis, and Molly Thatcher.

In recognition of the vast contributions that Mordecai Gorelik has made to the world of theater and of the distinction he has earned through his research and publication, the University finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Mordecai Gorelik the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an intercollegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods: the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The ends of the sleeves are square, with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

August 6, 1988

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 6, 1988

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an intercollegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods: the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The ends of the sleeves are square, with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

Commencement

May 12, 13, and 14, 1989

PETERSON

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 12, 13, and 14, 1989

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Doctor of Humane Letters

William Bevan

William Bevan, a native of Plains, Pennsylvania, born May 16, 1922, earned an A.B. degree, with honors, from Franklin and Marshall College in 1942 and an M.A. and a Ph.D. from Duke University in 1943 and 1948.

In an eventful career as a teacher, administrator, researcher, and publisher, Dr. Bevan has gained international prominence for his work in experimental psychology.

From 1946 to 1948 Dr. Bevan taught at Duke and at Heidelberg College, and from 1948 through 1959 he taught psychology at Emory University, rising from assistant professor to full professor. In 1959 he moved to Kansas State, where he chaired the Psychology Department until 1962, when he became Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. Two years later he became Vice President for Academic Affairs, a post he held until 1966, when he moved to Johns Hopkins University to serve until 1970 as vice president and provost.

During that period Dr. Bevan was also a Fellow in the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at the National Science Foundation and a Senior Post-Doctoral Fellow at the National Science Foundation. From 1970 to 1974 he was executive officer of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1974 he was named the William Pew Professor of Psychology at Duke University, where he was Chair of the Department of Psychology in 1977 and 1978 and provost from 1978 to 1982.

Since 1982 Dr. Bevan has been vice president and director of the Health Program at the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. In 1982 he served as president of the American Psychological Association. From 1970 to 1974 he was the publisher of Science magazine, and was associate editor of American Psychologist from 1979 to 1985. He was a charter member of the renowned Center for Creative Leadership, funded by the Richardson Foundation. He has received honorary degrees from Florida Atlantic University, Emory University, Franklin and Marshall College, the University of Maryland, and Duke University.

In summary, Dr. Bevan has enjoyed a distinguished career in his discipline and as an academic and foundation administrator. In recognition of his distinguished career in the academic, scientific, publishing, and research communities, and in light of his contributions to the field of experimental psychology, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on William Bevan the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Humane Letters

August C. Meyer, Sr.

This school was known as Southern Illinois Normal University in 1922, when August C. Meyer graduated with a degree in education and returned to his native Brookport. He soon moved north to Champaign, where he earned a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from the University of Illinois and settled down to pursue a long and distinguished career in broadcasting. He married Clara Rocke, and the couple had one son.

It was Mr. Meyer's vision and foresight that brought wide-area television to the central part of the state. Believing that low-frequency channels could provide coverage for wide areas, he successfully petitioned the Federal Communications Commission to assign the highly desirable low-frequency VHF Channel 3 to Champaign, in an area designated for higher-frequency UHF. He negotiated a compromise between competing applicants for the Channel 3 frequency, and organized and eventually acquired ownership of Midwest Television, Inc., one of the more successful broadcasting companies in the United States.

WCIA Television in Champaign went on the air in November 1953, bringing wide-area television coverage for the first time to the central Illinois communities of Champaign-Urbana, Danville, Bloomington, Springfield, and Effingham, as well as more than 1400 smaller communities in the coverage area.

He directed WCIA in its early days with a strong sense of community purpose. He was a pioneer in innovative and educational programming, establishing a telecourse arrangement with Millikin University in Decatur, mandating weekly discussion programs with titles such as "Let's Look at Learning," and insisting on a strong commitment to area news coverage. Today the WICA news department is recognized as one of the best in the country.

Mr. Meyer's broadcast operations expanded when he acquired WMBD-AM/FM/TV in Peoria in 1960 and KFMB-AM/FM/TV in San Diego in 1964. All the Midwest Television stations are CBS affiliates, and Mr. Meyer came to play a large and distinguished role in service capacities with the CBS network. He was a member of the CBS Affiliate Board of Advisors from 1960 to 1963 and from 1966 to 1969. He is also a director of the Illinois Association of Maximum Service Telecasters.

August C. Meyer's devotion to his state and its government is well recognized. He has been a friend and counselor to many who occupied high office in state and federal government, including U.S. Senators Everett Dirksen, Alan Dixon, and Paul Simon, former Illinois Secretary of State Paul Powell, and former State Auditor Michael Howlett. He is a trustee of the Lincoln Academy of Illinois.

He believes that news of the workings of government is important for viewers and listeners, and has established a strong newsgathering effort from his stations in Springfield. He set up a unique research department for his television station, and he was ahead of the industry in formulating methods of determining his viewers' needs and interests. His research staff expanded their efforts into the areas of election polling, and some of the methods they created have carried forward to the extensive election coverage done by major networks today. Midwest Television polls during Illinois political campaigns are known to be highly accurate and are quoted widely by media throughout the state and the nation.

He has remembered his roots in Southern Illinois, and his stations have produced numerous documentaries involving topics and people from this part of the state.

August C. Meyer, Sr. is among a vanishing breed of broadcasters who believe in strong local ownership and a firmly cemented relationship with communities in their service area. Midwest Television continues to operate from its original office in Champaign with the same spirit of localism and maximum service that inspired its birth.

Mr. Meyer is Chairman of the Board of the Bank of Illinois and of Midwest Television, Inc. He has become one of the nation's 250 most wealthy individuals and has been inordinately generous. His contributions to non-profit organizations are well known and extensive. He is past president and a member of the Board of Directors of Burnham Hospital in Champaign, a member of the Board of Directors of the SIU Foundation, past legal counsel to the Illinois Press Association, a member of the Illinois and Champaign County Bar Associations, and a member of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Approaching his 90th birthday, on October 28, 1990, Mr. Meyer can look back on a life of distinguished service to Illinois. His contributions have been many and his stature in his profession is unparalleled. His quoted philosophy of business conduct is a model for all, as an approach to life and for the maintenance of relationships with others: "Conduct every conference or finish each transaction with others as if you expect to do business with them tomorrow."

In recognition of the contributions he has made to the broadcasting industry, to his area, to Illinois, and to the public, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on August C. Meyer, Sr., the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an intercollegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods: the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The ends of the sleeves are square, with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

August 5, 1989

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 5, 1989

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods--the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.
